Holiday Shopping at the Mystic Arts Center Promotes Local Art and Artists

MYSTIC, CT- November 27, 2007 – The Mystic Arts Center is currently filled with hundreds of paintings and artisan crafts for sale for the holidays. Keeping with the Center’s mission, the Holiday Fine Art Show and Artisan Guild Sale showcases and promotes the work of local artisans and artists.

The exhibition includes one-of-a-kind crafts from pottery to jewelry, international clothing, hand-made scented soaps, home décor and knitwear. Framed paintings in almost every medium hang salon style during this exhibition which showcases the work of over 120 participating artists.

“This show is particularly popular because the merchandise is constantly changing,” says Executive Director Karen Barthelson. “This is a wonderful representation of local artists’ work.” Proceeds from all sales support the artists as well as the cultural programming and educational outreach of the Mystic Arts Center.

The Holiday Show runs through December 27. Entrance is free. The Mystic Arts Center is a non-profit organization dedicated to supporting creativity, culture and community.
